CONTROVERSIAL SITE southeast of Maryville Road and East Chain of Rocks Road. Chouteau Township Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks alleges it was improved by Chouteau highway equipment and workers. Sparks contends some of the work was near a ditch at the right, which is in the highway commissioner's jurisdiction, but that the work also got onto private land, trees being removed and dirt leveled. The surface is in the left and center foreground of this picture taken Thursday.

Road crew usage at site is opposed

Chouteau Township Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks predicted this week that the Town Board of Auditors will decline tonight to approve a request by town electors to transfer $30,000 from Chouteau funds to aid the township's highway department.

The request to have the funds transferred was approved by citizens during the township's annual meeting last week on a 22-5 vote.

Sparks noted that the township's attorney gave a legal opinion Thursday that the vote of electors on the transfer is not binding on the town board.

The issue is to be considered by the auditors during their regular meeting beginning at 7 tonight in the township office at 825 Thorngate Drive.

The supervisor said friends and employees of Highway Commissioner James Estes were present at the annual town meeting to support the financial transfer request. About 40 persons attended and some left before the vote was taken.

Sparks told the Press-Record he will fight any attempt to have general township money transferred to the highway department, particularly in light of allegations that men and equipment have improved private property.

Sparks alleged he has seen equipment and employees improving a parcel of land near Maryville and East Chain of Rocks roads in the past few days—removing trees and leveling land.

He said there is a ditch nearby which drains township roads, but alleged that equipment was on adjoining private land.

A road grader and bulldozer were used, he contended.

The attempt to have the money transferred is aimed at improving the financial condition of the highway department, which may be unable to meet this week's payroll without aid, a review of the township's records showed.

Some income from taxes is expected from County Treasurer George Musso, but it is not known if it will be received in time.

Sparks said he opposes any effort to give aid to the highway department "while money is being wasted."

In other action at the annual town meeting last week, Sparks reported on progress in the Four Township Sewer Program and on plans to construct a new township office and community center building.

River jam clouds dam's future; issue only sham?

The main (600-foot) Lock 26 at Alton is being reopened to full-size tows today, and repair of the main (1,200-foot) Lock 27 at Granite City is expected to be completed during May. But the future of Illinois-Mississippi River shipping remains clouded.

"Suspicious timing" of work on a jagged underwater cell, a facility used in positioning barges tows at Alton, is being alleged by John Cunningham of St. Louis, chairman of the Upper Mississippi Task Force of the Ozark Chapter of the Sierra Club.

The club and another group have joined railroads in litigation delaying proposed construction of a new dam and locks two miles south of the present aging Alton facilities. Cunningham views the current project as "routine maintenance work" and accused barge line operators of "capitalizing on it to arouse public support in behalf of their own selfish interest."

A vast backlog of tows and barges seeking to pass through the Alton locks developed last week but began to dwindle with partial resumption of river traffic Thursday afternoon. Eighty-nine delayed towsboats had dropped to 45 by Saturday—14 north and 31 south of the dam—and decreased further during the weekend.

U.S. Senator Adlai E. Stevenson said during a visit to Madison County Thursday afternoon that new federal legislation currently being drafted would authorize a new dam and single 1,200-foot lock at Alton and would ban a 12-foot channel in the Upper Mississippi.

Dam opponents have alleged the reconstruction plan is a device to deepen the river channel from nine to 12 feet, a charge denied by the Army Engineer Corps.

While one new Alton lock rather than two is being proposed by the Engineer Corps as a compromise, some authorities say last week's repair-related congestion proves that one lock would be inadequate.

Reservations—avoided by some restaurants and most doctors—are going to be tried at the Gateway Arch for those seeking "room at the top."

A system of reservations for rides to the top of the Arch on the riverfront will be in operation on a trial basis for five days from Wednesday, April 21, through Sunday, April 25.

Robert J. Baer, Bi-State Development Agency executive director, said, "The reservation system will be tested following a suggestion made by Robert S. Chandler, superintendent of the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial, to better serve visitors."

Following purchase of tickets at the Arch ticket sales counter, persons will be directed to a reservation counter. There, each will be given a leaving time for his trip to the observation platform at the top of the Arch.

Reservations will be on a "first-come, first-served" basis and for the day of the trip only. They will not be accepted for future dates, although tickets

RESCUING LIVE CARGO of hogs from an overturned tractor-trailer at Route 111 and Interstate 270 early today. The truck went off an entrance ramp road and overturned, injuring the driver. Volunteers aided in rounding up escaped hogs and attending to those still in the truck. The overturned trailer is in the background as hogs are herded through a makeshift ramp into another truck.

Roundup after crash

A tractor-trailer truck driver was severely injured at 1:30 p.m. Sunday when his truck, carrying a load of live hogs, overturned off the northbound entrance ramp from Route 111 to eastbound Interstate 270.

The driver, Paul Allen, 38, of St. Genevieve, Mo., was pinned in the overturned truck cab and had to be cut out by rescue workers from the Mitchell and Long Lake Fire Departments using a power tool—hydraulic shears capable of shearing off the top of an auto within 12 seconds.

The trailer, which ended up on its side, broke open and numerous hogs escaped into a nearby field. Efforts by about 50 persons, including passersby, to round them up continued past 3:30 a.m. today.

There were two levels in the truck, and the lower level remained intact. Most of the several hundred hogs in the vehicle remained inside it.

Several hogs were killed in the crash.

A spokesman for the Bill Hunter Trucking Co., East St. Louis, owner of the vehicle, told the Press-Record at the scene that Allen had obtained his load from the National Stock Yards in East St. Louis and, shortly before the mishap, encountered mechanical problems near Routes 111 and 162.

A company mechanic repaired the vehicle and Allen continued toward his destination, Chicago.

Illinois State Police on the scene expressed belief that Allen apparently attempted to negotiate the entrance ramp at a faster than normal speed and left the roadway, the truck skidding on its side several yards before coming to a halt.

State Trooper Edward Allen, who was assisting rescue workers in removing the driver from the cab, suffered a puncture wound to his right knee and injuries to his right leg. He also twisted his back.

Trooper Allen, who is no relation to the driver, did not seek emergency treatment but indicated he will see a doctor today.

'New' Ill. constitution 6 yrs. old

(22nd of a Bicentennial year Press-Record series)
Illinois adopted its initial constitution the year it became a state, 1818.

This was replaced by an 1848 document and then by an 1870 constitution destined to remain in effect for a century.

As early as the first decade of the 20th Century, an increasing number of Illinoisans were concluding that the 1870 state constitution needed modernization.

The document became especially difficult to amend after the state adopted the Australian (secret) ballot in 1891.

This provided that proposed amendments had to be voted upon separately rather than being included on the regular ballot.

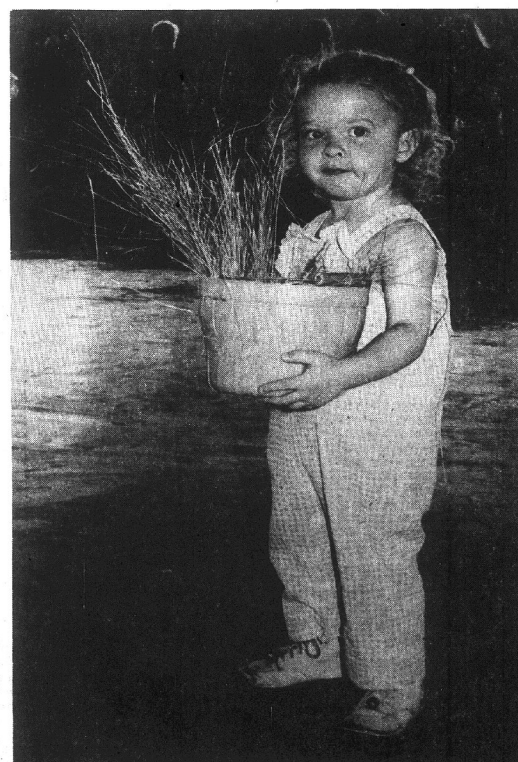

And it stopped counting a failure to vote on an amendment as a "yes" vote.

A politically partisan constitutional convention met from 1920 to 1922 and produced a new basic document which Illinois voters rejected by an overwhelming majority.

Some of the real need for reform was eliminated with passage of the "Gateway Amendment" in 1960 which eased the amending process, and with acceptance in 1962 of a constitutional amendment to reform the state judiciary.

In the late 1960s, the administration of Gov. Richard Ogilvie hoped to remove still another issue by the adoption of a state income tax.

News notes

The Federal Communications Commission on Friday told of plans to widen the citizen band radio range, adding a letter to the present three-letter, four-digit format. Call signs now vary from KAA0001 to KZZ2999; they will be extended to KAAA0001 to KZZ29999.

Proposed federal legislation would bar use of polygraph "lie detector" tests in connection with employment.

Three key East St. Louis police officials and a city administrator were charged early Saturday with official misconduct related to alleged widespread gambling in East St. Louis tavern buildings.

Informational picketing is planned through Wednesday by an American Postal Workers Union local to protest proposed fall closing of the East St. Louis regional postal distribution center.

Illinois Racing Board Chairman Anthony J. Scariano said Friday that the board has no reason to think Illinois Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett knew that a finance firm from which he borrowed $100,000 had horse race track interests. Asked if the loans were legal, Scariano said, "I have no reason to believe otherwise."

Currently the Democratic governor nominee, Howlett received the loans totaling $100,000 in 1972 and 1973 from the Nationwide Acceptance Corp.

Cong. Paul Simon cites Sen. Hubert Humphrey's leadership potential, armament control advocacy and knowledge of the world food problem as factors in Simon's decision to push for nomination of Humphrey for President.

The Faculty Organization on Collective Bargaining is asking the SIU Foundation to cancel the SIU Governor's Ball, a $37.50 Bicentennial dance May 8 at Sunset Hills Country Club. The FOCB calls the site selection "insensitive" in view of a pending suit against the club's membership procedures. Ball proceeds are intended for scholarships.

Assistant State's Attorney Rod Pitts sought dismissal Thursday of an amended class action suit filed against the Madison County tax collection process by over 400 property owners who alleged excessive assessments.

Shotgun in car, two arrested

Two men were arrested at 3:20 a.m. Friday after police alleged seeing them with a shotgun in the 2600 block of Washington Avenue.

Officers reported they were on patrol when they saw Harlan Ely, 20, of 55 Cambridge Drive, standing on the sidewalk with a shotgun. As a squad car approached, Ely allegedly threw the shotgun in the back seat of a car parked without headlights in the middle of Washington Avenue, police said.

Police stopped the car before it could leave the scene and arrested Ely and the driver, Michael Bradshaw, 22, of 2913 Palmer Ave., who allegedly admitted owning the gun.

Bradshaw was charged with not having a firearm owner's identification card. Ely also was charged with disorderly conduct and Bradshaw was charged with unlawful use of a weapon.

Police confiscated the shotgun as evidence.

Faces 2 charges

John Wesley Perdue, 23, of 31 Nickel Drive, Arlington Heights, was arrested by Pontoon Beach police at 2:34 a.m. Sunday and charged with unlawful possession of a firearm.

Police on patrol said they observed a man slumped over in the back seat of an auto parked in the 3300 Block of Pontoon Road.

When he was asked for identification, he allegedly reached into a shirt pocket and pulled out a plastic bag which police said is believed to have contained cannabis.

He was taken to the police station and later also was charged with disorderly conduct after officers said he became abusive and shouted obscenities at the officers.

election, Illinois voters called for a constitutional convention by an almost two-to-one majority.

In December 1960, the 116 delegates began work, which was soon transferred to the restored Old State Capitol, the scene of three earlier constitutional conventions.

Democrats and Republicans were equally represented.

Samuel W. Wilner, who had been involved in the constitutional reform movement for more than 20 years, was elected convention president.

Voters approved the delegates' handwork.

The modern tone of the document the delegates produced begins with the Bill of Rights, which not only restricts government interference with individual rights but also encourages government to positively promote justice.

It calls for freedom from discrimination in employment and in the sale of rental property on the basis of sex or physical handicap.

It attacks racism, segregation and even ethnic jokes, capturing the spirit of these items best in a section entitled "Individual Dignity."

Four controversial points were submitted to the voters as separate propositions.

In the first, the voters decided to retain cumulative voting, the unique system for minority representation which requires election of three representatives from each district, rather than adopt the alternative plan of small districts from which only one House member could be chosen.

The second was decided in favor of those who wished to continue the election of judges, as opposed to persons who preferred to have them appointed by panels of lawyers and laymen.

A proposal to lower the voting age from 21 to 18 was defeated just a short time before the United States Supreme Court required the change to be made nationally.

And abolition of the death penalty was defeated by a two-to-one majority.

The governor was strengthened by giving him the authority to reduce appropriations in addition to vetoing them. He had the item veto under the amended constitution of 1870.

In 1978, the election of state officers was scheduled to be switched to non-Presidential years, thus assuring a short term in 1976-78.

The legislature was required to meet annually, although it was already doing so.

For the first time, the governor and the lieutenant governor were mandated to come from the same party.

The state superintendent of public instruction was abolished as an elected office, and education was placed under the jurisdiction of a single board.

A board of elections was created, and the state residency requirement for voting was reduced from one year to six months.

Under heavy pressure from Chicago delegates, the convention adopted a section granting extensive "home rule," including taxing authority, to cities of more than 5,000 population — and made the same opportunity available to counties of 200,000 persons.

The 1970 constitution, in spite of a major effort from Chicago representatives, does not grant "home rule" authority to two highly sensitive areas: the use of municipal earnings or income tax and licensing for revenue.

The state retained final authority to limit or deny any specific power local governments have chosen to exercise.

The constitution directs the ultimate elimination of the personal property tax by Jan. 1, 1979.

Although the tax was subjected to heavy criticism for nearly a century, representatives of local governments protested that now statewide taxes, with only real estate being exempt, would have to be imposed on persons or corporations no longer required to pay personal property taxes.

The legislature was also granted authority to levy a "true" sales tax.

The office of the auditor general was established to conduct a post-audit of governmental affairs. He was to be appointed for a term of 10 years, by the General Assembly rather than by the governor.

Finally, the new document can be amended by either legislative or popular initiative or by a constitutional convention.

Whether or not the 1970 constitution will serve for a century as did its successor remains to be seen.

The questions are whether or not the governmental structures and processes which still reflect small-town, rural Illinois can be adapted to governing a complex, interdependent, rapidly changing and urbanizing society.

Does the constitution go far enough toward modernization? And can truly representative government be maintained while the volume and complexity of legislative work increases, demanding effective decision-making on technically complicated issues?

The same questions, of course, occurred to skeptics in 1870.

progress on a damaged underwater sheet and pile cell. It is absolutely essential that vessels do not rub or in any other way disturb this repair work.

It is anticipated that the lock soon will be open to all length tows. Use of bow boats will be mandatory until further notice.

Members of the Joint Industry-Government Committee will be monitoring and regulating traffic as necessary to maximize lock utilization. All operators are urged to cooperate fully with instructions from the committee and lock personnel.

Peterson added, "Closure of the 1,200-foot main lock, for construction purposes at Locks No. 27, Granite City, has resulted in occasional large delays of vessel traffic waiting to lock through the 600-foot auxiliary lock."

"Upbound vessels have been required to wait in the St. Louis vicinity near various structures and facilities located adjacent to the river bank."

"Vessels pilots and operators are reminded to use extreme caution in determining temporary mooring locations in this area, in order to prevent costly damage to the various structures."

"One specific area of concern is a public water intake located on the left bank (Illinois side) at approximately river mile 18.6 (between the Veterans Memorial and McKinley Bridges)."

"The water intake is marked by a large sign located on the intake building and facing the river. Vessels of the intake lock."

"Some vessels have moored in the vicinity of the intake, however, and possible damage to the structure is of concern."

"Cooperation in refraining from mooring in the vicinity of the described water intake as well as the various other major structures and facilities is being requested."

"Total barge length per lockage will not exceed 400 feet. And all tows will use an auxiliary boat to assist in the lockage. Minimum horsepower of the auxiliary boat will be 100 horsepower."

"Commencing Friday afternoon, vessels are locked northbound for 24 hours with the same restrictions. Thereafter, the direction of locking will change every 12 hours."

Settle Nameoki highway strike

Nameoki Township Highway Department workers, on strike since March 4, returned to work Thursday after reaching agreement on a new contract. The new contract between Highway Commissioner Albert Bell and Teamsters' Local 825, Alton, covers the period starting March 1, when the former contract expired, and will continue in effect for 13 months and 20 days to the end of Bell's elected term.

The laborers received a 55-cent per-hour increase and now receive $4.85 per hour. The mechanic and foreman received 47-cent per-hour increase to $5.62 per-hour. A new category was added for labor crew leaders or "lead men," as two in that position will receive $4.52 per hour. The new agreement also calls for a change in the employees' insurance carrier with some insurance improvements and minor changes in the vacation policies. The holidays remain the same as in the previous contract.

Nine employees of the highway department went on strike March 4 and eight returned to their jobs Thursday. One left for other employment.

Steelmaking called a growth industry'

Characterizing steel as a "growth industry" both in the United States and overseas, the president of the American Iron and Steel Institute said last week that the domestic steel industry has a good future, provided some "tough problems" are surmounted.

Among these obstacles, he said, are capital requirements of $3 billion a year, government-subsidized foreign steel exports, raw materials availability, energy availability, and pollution control outlays of $12 billion to $14 billion.

On the positive side, Frederick C. Langenberg said that technology second to none in the world, large deposits of coal and iron ore, and favorable energy costs make the American steel industry "an industry of the future."

He outlined projected domestic steel consumption of 135 million tons by 1983, requiring a new steel capacity by 1983 of 185 million tons. In some industry segments, such as stainless steel, an even higher growth rate is anticipated.

Langenberg made his remarks in the Andrew Carnegie Lecture, delivered to the Pittsburgh Chapter, American Society for Metals. He is a past chairman of the chapter and is currently a trustee of ASM.

Until July of last year, he was president of Jesso Steel Co., Washington, Pa.

"For the first time in decades," Langenberg said, "companies are seeking capital in the equity markets because the public perception of steel is changing."

"People are beginning to understand that steel is an industry with a large increment of low-cost capacity already in place, upon which it can expect a relatively good return when compared to the experience of the previous decade."

The AISI president also declared that steel industry critics who claim that the domestic steel industry is lagging in technical developments are "simply misinformed. The United States steel industry leads the world in product and process development, and this leadership will be maintained," he said.

Tracing the history of the industry, Langenberg noted that while steel can be classified as a mature industry, it is not a declining one.

He pointed out the consumption patterns indicating the U. S. will consume 135 million tons of finished steel yearly by 1983, including 15 million tons imported from foreign mills.

Overseas, where the industry is less mature, a five per cent annual growth rate is foreseen. This country must have 185 million tons of raw steel capacity in order to ship the required 120 million tons of finished steel from domestic sources, the AISI executive said.

At the beginning of 1975, AISI estimated that domestic steelmaking capability was 155 million tons. At the beginning of 1976, capability was estimated at 159 million tons.

Langenberg emphasized that steel must achieve a rate of return over a sustained period which at least equals the average on equity for all manufacturing industry.

"But we also need federal support for capital formation, including a higher and permanent tax credit, more rapid depreciation and rapid recovery of pollution control expenditures," he asserted.

In his speech, Langenberg made these other points:

—The principal deterrent to "irresponsible environmentalism" is to educate the public that ultimately the added costs of most regulations are borne by consumers.

"The average citizen thinks someone else is paying the bill. He will think twice when environmental costs are directly related to higher priced cars or increased electric bills."

Some analysts say it costs less to produce a ton of steel in the U. S. than it does in Europe and that U. S. costs are close, if not equal, to those of Japan.

Thus, a American steelmakers should be able to compete in any market against foreign competition; but this is not the case because the U. S. industry frequently is competing with foreign industries owned or supported by foreign governments.

"About 44 per cent of the world's steel capacity is government owned, and 54 per cent of new announced expansion in free world countries outside the U. S. will be government owned."

He called for deregulation of natural gas and warned of potential iron and steel scrap problems.

"By 1980, the U. S. will have to process nearly 40 per cent more obsolete scrap than the record tonnage processed in 1974, which may indicate an impending scrap shortage."

"The alternative to U. S. officials advising other nations planning steel expansions not to depend upon an unlimited supply of ferrous scrap from U. S. sources appears to be unilateral action on export controls."

"The industry has tough problems to surmount. But the opportunities that exist today in steel—worldwide—make it not only an industry of the future, but, more than ever, an exciting one to be in," Langenberg said.

State Senator Sam M. Vandalbene, Democrat-Edwardsville, is co-sponsoring a bill expanding the list of persons required to report cases of child abuse and neglect in Illinois.

The legislation, introduced in the Senate this month, amends the Abused and Neglected Child Reporting Act by adding the following to the list of persons required to report under the act: parole and probation officers, firemen, paramedics, emergency medical technicians and other medical service personnel.

In recent sessions, Sen. Vandalbene has either co-sponsored or supported several measures aimed at curbing child abuse in the state.

Those required by earlier legislation to report instances of child abuse are physicians, hospitals, educators, social workers and nursery or day care center personnel.

"This bill broadens the list of individuals who must report child abuse cases to the proper authorities," Vandalbene commented. "Thousands of children are physically injured each year by abusive parents, and some of the cases result in death."

"We must do something to lessen the chances of abuse or neglect to helpless youngsters. This bill, if enacted into law, will help us achieve that goal."

Hearings on air, water regulations

A public hearing, with the goal of having citizens help formulate the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency's air and water pollution control program for the next fiscal year, will be held at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at the Carondele Ramada Inn, 300 W. Main St.

"We want active public participation," reports Abe Loudermilk, manager of program development, Division of Water Pollution Control, Illinois EPA.

"Citizens need to be informed on the progress of the state's current water and air pollution control programs as well as what the agency proposes to do next year."

"Past hearings have dealt exclusively with water pollution control," said Warren Miller, agency hearing officer.

"This is the first time we will have formally presented the air pollution control program proposals, and we hope to get constructive comments on this key aspect of the agency's activities."

Meet on SIUE future

Seven meetings are being held to discuss the status and future of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Acting President Andrew J. Lechman is conferring with various constituent groups on the university's sites at Edwardsville, Alton and East St. Louis.

The one-hour open meetings began last week and will continue through Wednesday, when a session with students is scheduled in Goshop Lounge of the University Center.

In a memo to the university community, Dr. Kochman said he scheduled the series of meetings because "it is important that we share our concerns and goals as openly and completely as possible with every member of the institutional community as we address ourselves to the growth and development of the university."

He said that during the first 15 or 20 minutes of each session he assesses the current status of SIUE, reviews general objectives, identifies program priorities, and explains the university administrative organization.

Four key officers—the vice-president and provost, the senior vice-president for planning and review, the acting vice-president for business affairs and the acting executive dean for student affairs—also have been present to participate in discussions.

The remaining time in each session is an open forum, with questions and discussion encouraged.

Non-academic employees met Monday and the faculty (including the Alton and East St. Louis centers) Tuesday.

School of Dental Medicine non-academic employees and School of Dental Medicine students assembled Thursday.

East St. Louis Center students will meet tomorrow at 11 a.m. at the center, Room 1015; East St. Louis Center non-academic employees Tuesday at 1 p.m. at the center, Room 2069; and main Edwardsville campus students Wednesday at 12:30 p.m. in Goshop Lounge.

Dr. Kochman said, "It is my intention that these sessions will be only the beginning of an ongoing series of dialogues to provide a favorable environment for problem-solving and to improve the quality of life in this institution. We want to fully meet the human and academic needs of the university."

Guardianship court powers are affirmed

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott has issued a legal opinion affirming powers of juvenile courts in protecting children who are the victims of unfit parents.

In response to an inquiry from McHenry County, State's Attorney William J. Cowling, Scott advised that, under juvenile court proceedings, natural parental rights may be terminated on the basis of "unfitness" prior to the filing of a petition for adoption.

Scott also said that once the court finds the parents to be unfit and appoints a guardian empowered to consent to adoption, all rights of the natural parents in relation to the child are terminated—and it is not necessary to prove again in any proceedings that the parents are unfit.

He noted that law provisions requiring the filing of an adoption petition within 30 days after the child becomes available for adoption have no bearing on the timing of the prior establishment of guardianship.

Bright president of Madison Lions

Richard Bright of Madison was elected president of the Madison Lions Club and will take office July 1.

Other officers elected were: Emmett Pazio, first vice president; Tony Anselmo, second vice president; Salvatore Dimura, third vice president; James Riskovsky, secretary; Matt J. Ozanich, treasurer; Ralph Miller, liaison; Gary Urhan, tail twister; and Fred Duffin, chaplain.

Elected to the board of directors were Mike Sasyk, Travis Rash, Alex Markuly, Steve Barzoff, Jim Perdue, Donald Sridick and Forrest Boelling.

Albert Hudzik, current president, will become a member of the board of directors when his term expires.

GC South in district chess tourney May 1

Granite City South is one of 14 Class AA schools entered in a district chess tournament at Alton next week.

Competition in the second annual Illinois High School Association two-class chess tournament series gets under way at the district level Saturday, May 1.

Competitors from 128 downstate and suburban schools will compete at five Class A and seven Class AA districts.

Schools are classified according to enrollment, with enrollments of 750 or less in Class A and schools with 751 or more students in Class AA. This year, there are 49 Class A schools and 83 Class AA schools.

Last year, Aurora (Central) and Winnetka (New Trier East) captured the Class A and Class AA titles, respectively.

Aurora (Central) will be one of nine teams competing in the Amboy District, while New Trier East begins its defense by hosting its own 12-team District.

Qualifiers from each of the districts will advance to the state final chess tournament May 7-8 at Homewood-Flossmoor High School, 999 Kedzie Ave., Flossmoor.

The state chess meet will consist of five rounds, the first beginning Friday, May 7, at 5 p.m. The second round will be at 8 p.m.

The final three rounds will be Saturday, May 8, at 8 a.m., 12:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m.

All districts will begin at 8 a.m. on Saturday, May 1. In Class AA, each team must enter a minimum of five players, and a maximum of eight will be permitted.

In both classes, the top two rated teams following district competition will advance to the state final tournament.

In addition, the top four ranking teams from the Chicago Public League qualifying tournament will advance in Class AA.

In the event of tie for the qualifying berths at any district, all teams tied for such berths will advance.

Plan commission to act on zone changes

The Granite City Plan Commission will meet in a special session at 1:15 p.m. Thursday to consider requests for four zoning changes and two requests for annexation into the city. The commission's regular meeting last Thursday was postponed due to the observance of Maundy Thursday.

Petitions to be considered include a petition for Reese Drug Store for commercial zoning at 3161 Myrtle Ave.

Denn Tondras for a business classification for an auto body repair shop at 2201 Namoki Road, Daniel Deak Jr. for a permit to sell radios from a garage at 2923 W. 20th St., and King & Hoffman Realty seeking a permit for a real estate office at 2848 Madison Ave.

Annexations requested are by Charles and Mary Jones, 2614 Whippoorwill Lane and Eastland, Inc., 2618 Whippoorwill Lane, both in Steeles Village Manor.

Tax relief available to elderly

State Representative Everett G. Steele (R-Glen Carbon) believes that thousands of senior citizens in Madison County may be entitled to property and sales tax relief grants from the state but have failed to make the necessary application.

"According to computer printouts provided by the Illinois Department of Revenue," Rep. Steele said, "less than half of the individuals in Madison County 65 years or older have received grants from the state."

"The population of senior citizens 65 years or older in Madison County is approximately 16,000 households. Only 6,627 grants have been made."

"The average amount of tax refund received by applicants in Madison County," Steele said, "has been $79.41." He emphasized that all citizens over 65 years of age are qualified whose annual income was less than $10,000 last year.

"Only one senior citizen per household may apply. However, individuals over 65 without any income are also eligible to apply, as their needs require the purchase of food, medicines and other essentials upon which the senior citizen refund program is based."

He urged all senior citizens in the 16th Legislative District to call his Granite City office at 876-4334 or to write to the Illinois Department of Revenue, Box 4017, Springfield 62708, to obtain application forms.

"The grants come in post-stamped checks to senior citizens," Steele emphasized. The amount of each grant depends on an individual's income and property taxes, if any, which have been paid during 1975.

Traffic deaths higher in state

Illinois traffic fatalities increased for the third consecutive month of 1976 as 106 deaths were registered during March, provisional reports released by the Department of Transportation and the Illinois State Police show.

The tally of 380 fatalities for three months is an increase of six per cent over the 358 for the same period of 1975.

The 106 deaths in March were a result of 97 accidents. The figure is up six per cent from the 106 fatalities in March 1975. Madison County had two fatalities in March.

Single-vehicle accidents claimed 58 lives in 64 Illinois accidents. This includes 20 pedestrians killed in 20 accidents, one pedestrian killed in one accident and three motorcycle fatalities in three accidents.

Thirty-three drivers or passengers were killed in 29 single vehicle accidents and one person was killed in a railroad crossing accident.

Multiple vehicle accidents accounted for 48 deaths in 43 accidents. There was one accident involving a motorcycle and a motor vehicle which claimed one life. All other accidents involved two or more motor vehicles.

There were seven multiple-fatality accidents: five 2-death and two 3-death.

Kindergarten registration in GC schools April 26

Preregistration of children who will enter kindergarten class next September will be held at elementary schools of Granite City School District 9 beginning on Monday, April 26. Any child who will be 5 years of age on or before Dec. 31, 1976, is eligible to enroll on kindergarten.

Kindergarten classes are half-day sessions and are held at each elementary school. A birth certificate should be presented at the time of registration and must be presented before attendance can begin in the fall.

Before entering school, the child is required to have immunizations against whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus, polio, mumps, measles (mumps) and rubella (three-day measles). Exceptions are made only for religious or medical reasons.

Physical and dental examinations also are required before attendance in kindergarten may begin. These forms are distributed to parents at the time of registration so that appointments for the exams can be arranged during the summer.

School nurses will be available at the time of registration to explain health regulations to parents. Registration days at the various elementary schools are as follows:

Monday, April 26: Lake, Logan, Maryville and Niedringhaus.
Tuesday, April 27: Prohardt, Johnson, McKinley and Washington.
Wednesday, April 28: Emerson, Marshall, Mitchell and Wilson.
Thursday, April 29: Nameoki, Parkview, Stallings and Webster.

Registration will be from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. on the designated day. The child being registered should accompany the parent. Any questions concerning the registration can be answered by the principal at the neighborhood elementary school or by Vasil Efthymiou, director of pupil personnel services, at the Board of Education office (876-6600).

Preschool Center

preregistration will be conducted during the same time of kindergarten preregistration. The only difference in requirements is that the child be four years of age on or before Dec. 31, 1976.

The six elementary buildings qualifying for the Preschool program are: Emerson, Logan, McKinley, Marshall, Washington and Webster.

A fourth public hearing on problems associated with workers' compensation insurance has been scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Monday, April 26, in Alton by a subcommittee of the Illinois Insurance Law Study Commission. Location will be the Alton City Council Chamber, and many Quad-Cityans are planning to attend.

At previous hearings in Springfield Jan. 28, Feb. 25 and March 30, serious deficiencies were alleged in operation of the workers' compensation assigned risk plan.

Many companies and individuals also testified they were experiencing difficulty in obtaining workers' compensation insurance at reasonable rates.

State Senator James F. Bell (R-Joliet), subcommittee chairman, described the Illinois rates as among the highest in the nation.

Statements received from business groups, insurance agents and companies indicated the high insurance rates have resulted from recent changes in workers' compensation laws, and suggested that such increases can indirectly contribute to a decline in employment in the state.

Some have challenged the new benefits to be reasonable and long overdue. They maintain that many of the changes in the Illinois law were necessary in order to comply with 19 essential recommendations of the National Commission on State Workers' Compensation Laws.

presidents also have been invited to attend the hearing and express their views.

The commission is headed by Rep. Bernard E. Epton (R-Chicago).

Other members of the four-member subcommittee headed by Sen. Bell are Sen. Terry L. Bese (D-O'Leary), Rep. Richard A. Mautino (D-Spring Valley) and Rep. Calvin W. Schuneman (R-Prophetstown).

ENROUTE TO RUSSIA for a six month tour on a wheat-bearing ship from Texas. Brad Edwards, 2525 E. 24th St., has graduated from the Harry Lundberg Seamanship School at Pine Point, Md., and will begin his first tour soon. He also completed a general equivalence degree course, finishing second in his class.

County track meet at South April 27

The annual Madison County track meet, sponsored by Harold Briggs, regional superintendent of schools and held by Granite City High School South, will be held on Tuesday, April 27. Roger Smith is the meet manager.

Trials will start at 4 p.m., with finals starting immediately after the preliminaries.

This year, the honorary meet manager will be Earl McLane, athletic director of Roxana High School.

The regional superintendent's office, along with all of the schools in Madison County, appreciate and recognize his hard work and assistance in making this annual meet a success. Earl was a moving force to begin this fine event in 1946," Briggs commented.

The following schools of Madison County will participate: Roxana, Triad, Highland, Edwardsville, Bethalto, Granite City North and South, Collinsville, Alton, Madison, East Alton-Wood River and St. Paul of Highland.

The track meet is divided into two divisions. The Red Division is composed of high schools with large enrollments and the Green Division is composed of high schools with smaller enrollments.

Admission is 75 cents for students and $1.50 for adults. Green Division records include the following by Madison High School athletes:

100-yard dash, Chandler, 9.9 seconds in 1972; 800-yard relay, 1:33 in 1970; 400-yard relay, 4.9 in 1974; quarter-mile run, Holmes, 5:16 in 1970; 180-yard low hurdles, Ford, 20.45 seconds in 1970; and 220-yard dash, Tyus

22.5 in 1970 and tied by Chandler in 1972.

The former combined Granite City High School holds one of the Red Division county records:

180-yard low hurdles on a curve, Allen, 19.85 in 1970. GCHS South Red Division records still intact are: 120-yard high hurdles, 14.5, and 330-yard low hurdles, 38.6 seconds, both by Schooley in 1975; and the two-mile relay, 8:29.9 in 1975.

A year ago, Alton won with 84 points to 72 by Edwardsville, 60 by GCHS North, 54 by GCHS South and 18 by Collinsville.

Green Division team scores in 1975 were: Roxana 61, Highland 57, Wood River 56, Bethalto 52, Madison 41, Triad 17 and St. Paul of Highland and Marquette of Alton, scoreless.

Wallace spins, Carter wins

Don Carter of Hillsboro, Mo., opened the 1976 stock car racing season Saturday night at Tri-City National Speedway with a victory in the late model division 25-lap feature race.

In addition to picking up a lion's share of the money purse, Carter was presented an Easter basket by Larry Koch, the flagman, who was costumed as an Easter bunny.

Carter led the event from start to finish, with Bill Myers of East Alton crossing the finish line behind him.

Tom White of Missouri was third, with Spalding of Pontoon Beach fourth and Norm Cox of Missouri, fifth.

Defending track champion Russ Wallace of Arnold, Mo., ran second to Carter for 21 laps before spinning out in the second corner while attempting to pass the leader.

He placed sixth in the event when he again spun coming out of the last turn on the last lap and crossed the finish line backwards.

Missourians Pat King and Billy Collins were heat race victors, and Cox won a trophy dash and Wallace a 15-lap semi-feature.

In sportsman division competition, Granite City Dean Aerne outduelled defending titlist Mike Wallace to win that division's feature race. Larry Yates of Granite City was third.

Earlier, Wallace joined St. Louis' Tim Allen as a heat race winner.

The Gateway Auto Racing Association, sanctioning body at Tri-City, was active at the St. Charles, Mo., Speedway Sunday night. Granite City's Chuck Milam powered his sportsman class stock car into the feature race winner's circle there. Aerne was second and Wallace third.

Paul McGinn of Granite City captured a heat race on the quarter-mile oval at St. Charles.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought To You By Milford Matthews

Did you know there was once a man who, during one part of his life was a famous Hollywood actor and won an Academy Award - and in another part of his life was a boxer and fought the heavyweight champion of the world?

Do you have any idea who this was? Remember movie star Victor McLaglen? Most people don't know that in the early 1900s he was a top boxer and had a bout against Jack Johnson, heavyweight champion of the world.

Then, McLaglen turned to acting and won the Academy Award for Best Actor in 1935 for his performance in "The Informer."

How long does it take you to change a tire on your car?

Did you know that during the Indianapolis 500-mile race, pit crews are trained to change all four tires on a car in the phenomenal time of 30 seconds?

Ever wonder why a left-hand pitcher in baseball is called a "southpaw"?

Ball parks are usually laid out so the batter faces east to avoid a setting sun shining in his eyes. So, if center field is east, the south end of ball parks is the first base line.

Left-hand pitcher's throwing hand is on the first base side of the diamond. Thus, he's a "southpaw."

South sweeps 3 Kansas City baseball games; now 10-5-1

GCHS South swept to victory in a three-game baseball series at Kansas City, Mo., earning the Warriors a 10-5-1 season record. South won 11-1 Thursday over Belton High and then defeated Hickman Mills High 8-7 and Lee Summit 1-0 Friday.

Granite City garnered two runs in the fourth when Ed Pragma tripled and Jeff Scarborough singled before rounded the bases on wild pitches.

The Warriors scored nine runs in the fifth. Jim Cedar, Tom Hennrich, Pragma and Scarborough singled, Eldon Warfield walked, Keith Champion singled in two runs and Mike Clark blasted a home run. Danny Stanton doubled and Kenny Wieseman singled and rounded the bases on wild pitches.

On Friday afternoon, South edged Hickman Mills behind the pitching of Rich Fancher and Paul Evans. Fancher was on the mound four and a half innings and got the win.

Hickman totaled seven hits and three errors, and South 12 hits and four errors.

South led 2-0 after the opening inning. Hennrich tripled, Scarborough and Warfield singled, Clark drew a walk and Pragma singled.

Two Madison High School girls' track team members earned their way into an Ozark Amateur Athletic Union track and field Midwestern championship meet at Poplar Bluff.

In June, with first and second-place performances in regional competition Saturday at Edwardsville High School, about 300 athletes from Madison County participated. Sheila Woodson, age 14-15, competed, won the 380-yard run in 3:12.5 and then took second place in the mile run in 7:36.

28 years since Warriors won Illinois baseball crown

A staggering 550 district and suburban schools—including Chicago area schools—were not members of the Public League—begin the chase for the team title in the 27th annual Illinois High School Association (IHSA) boys' state baseball tournament series at 112 district sites the weekend of May 6, 8, 10.

This year's record field represents an increase of 12 teams over a year ago and 46 new entrants over the 1974 total.

The state tournament again will be held at Meinen Field, Peoria, on June 3-4.

Seven survivors of the district, regional and sectional levels of competition will be joined by the Chicago Public League champion in the eight-team state tournament field.

Eric Johnson, principal of Peoria (Manual) High School again will serve as host manager for the 37th state tournament.

Madison will play the host Hawks on Thursday, May 6, in the Collinsville district baseball meet.

A doubleheader Saturday, May 8, will pair Edwardsville and Granite City North in one game and the Madison-Collinsville survivor against Granite City South.

The district championship game is slated for Monday, May 10.

Champions of the Collinsville, Cahokia, Alton and Lebanon districts will play in the Edwardsville regional, while the New Athens, Carlyle, Belleville East and Sparta districts will send teams to the Belleville West regional May 15 and 17.

Edwardsville and Springfield regional titlists will collide and Staunton and Jacksonville survivors will meet in the Springfield Griffin sectional May 22 and 24.

Belleville West and McLeansboro regional champs and Nashville and Harrisburg winners will meet in the Carbondale sectional.

Pairings for the state tournament, as determined by blind draw, will be:

Quarterfinals Thursday, June 3—9:30 a.m.—Bartonville (Limestone) sectional winner vs. New Lenox (Providence) sectional winner.

11:30 a.m.—Carpentersville (Crown) sectional champion vs. Chicago Public League winner.

2 p.m.—Springfield (Griffin) vs. Champaign (Central).

4 p.m.—Carbondale (Community) vs. Northbrook (Glenbrook North).

Friday, June 4—9:30 a.m.—Winner Game 1 vs. Winner Game 2 (semifinals).

11:30 a.m.—Winner Game 3 vs. Winner Game 4 (semifinals).

7:30 p.m.—Winner Game 5 vs. Winner Game 6 (championship).

There will be districts at 112 sites on the weekend of May 6, 8 and 10, regionals at 28 sites on the weekend of May 15 and 17 and sectionals at seven sites on the weekend of May 22 and 24.

In all four-team tournaments, which includes all regional and sectional competition, a doubleheader will be played on Saturday with the championship game set for the following Monday. In five-team district tournaments, the first game will be played Thursday, May 6. In six-team districts, the first game will be played Wednesday, May 5, with Game 2 set for Thursday, May 6 and the semifinal doubleheader Saturday, May 8.

In all tournaments, in the case of rainouts, the local manager will attempt to reschedule the games on the next playable day.

In the case of doubleheader rainouts, he will try to schedule games on two different diamonds. But if two different diamonds are not available, the games will be played on successive days.

Any game called by the umpire because of rain, darkness or other reasons will be ruled a suspended game and play will resume from the point the game was suspended until a conclusion has been reached. All tournament games are scheduled to be seven innings in length.

A flip of a coin will determine home team and visiting team for each game in the tournament series, and the original coin flip will stand in the event a game is called.

The 10-run lead rule will be in effect for all tournament series games. In the event one team is ahead by 10 or more runs at the end of the fifth inning (four and one-half innings if the home team is ahead before it bats in the bottom of the fifth), or any inning thereafter, play will be terminated by the umpire.

Defending champion Skokie (Niles West) opens defense of its crown against Park Ridge (Maine East) in its own four-team district May 8.

The Indians rolled to last year's title with a 7-4 decision over Joliet (Central). Coach Jim Phipps has since taken leave to work in Arizona.

To become state champion, a team must win a minimum of nine straight games over the three-week time period. Chicago area teams have won the last seven straight titles and nine of the last 12.

Last non-Chicago area team to take the title was Peoria (Manual) in 1968, and Coach Ed Stonebeck's Rams could be challengers again this spring.

Granite City won in 1948 under the coaching of the late Principal Lawrence McCauley, beating New Athens 4-1 in the final game. Belleville won in 1940-47-49-54 and Collinsville in 1941.

Joe Fedora's 1963 Granite City nine reached the state championship game before losing 3-1 to Des Plaines (Maine West).

11 undefeated soccer teams

The 1976 Tri-City Area YMCA spring soccer program will conclude the weekend of April 24-25. Eleven boys' teams are still undefeated.

MR. AND MRS. DARYL MASTERSON. They were married in an evening ceremony at Sacred Heart Catholic Church. The former Miss Barbara Kay Pitchford, the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter V. Pitchford Sr., 2675 E. 24th St.

Barbara Pitchford and Daryl Masterson are wed

Arrangements of blue, orchid, pink and yellow spring flowers adorned the altar of Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church for the wedding on April 9 of Miss Barbara Kay Pitchford and Daryl Owen Masterson.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter V. Pitchford Sr., 2675 E. 24th St. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Owen C. Masterson, Rural Route Three, Belleville.

Father James L. Neuman officiated at the 6:30 p.m. nuptial mass.

Organist Mrs. Margaret Crawshaw accompanied the soloist, Miss Taffa Hogan. Wedding selections included "Ave Maria," "Hail, Holy One," "One Hand, One Heart" and "For All We Know."

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long, white satin Empire gown with an overlay of organza. Lace accented the bodice and cuffs of the organza sleeves.

She wore a matching lace Camello headpiece to secure a lace-bordered cathedral veil of bridal illusion and she carried a bouquet of blue carnations, pink roses and pink baby's breath.

Maid of honor Miss Carol Pitchford, sister of the bride, and bridesmaid Miss Debbie Adamow, a cousin of the bride, wore identical gowns in flocked fabric with long sleeves in pastel shades of blue and orchid.

Miss Judy Masterson, the groom's sister, and Miss Margie Ballard were junior bridesmaids; their dresses were similar in style to the adult attendants' gowns only in pink and yellow with organza aprons.

Each attendant carried a nosegay of white carnations, baby's breath and ribbons to match her frock and wore colored baby's breath in her hair.

Chris Masterson, also a sister of the groom, served as flower girl. She wore a white and blue frock and carried a basket of blue carnations pink roses and baby's breath.

Stephen Pitchford, a nephew of the bride, was the ringbearer. The groom chose Mike Zoller as his best man. Rick and Roger Masterson brothers of the groom, and Walter Pitchford, the bride's brother, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Trinity Hall in Madison. Jamie Noud presided over the guest book.

The parents of the groom hosted a dinner at Santanello's Restaurant, Belleville, after the church rehearsal.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Pitchford was attired in a sleeveless gown of floral turquoise with a matching jacket.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Masterson, selected a mint green sleeveless gown with a sheer floral jacket. Both wore corsages of miniature ivory carnations.

The groom is serving with the U.S. Navy and is currently stationed aboard the USS George Washington at Mare Island, Calif. The couple will reside in California.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL VAUGHT. They were married in an evening ceremony at the First Church of the Nazarene. The bride is the former Miss Mary Kathleen Cardin, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cardin, 3811 Park Lane.

Vaught-Cardin wedding at 1st Church of Nazarene

Miss Mary Kathleen Cardin, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cardin, 3811 Park Lane, and Michael E. Vaught, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Vaught, 3431 Lydia Lane, were united in marriage March 13 at the First Church of the Nazarene.

Aisle candelabra with burning tapers and a bridal arch festooned with pom poms and ribbons provided the setting for the 7 p.m. double ring ceremony, performed by the Rev. William Roddy.

Organist Jackie Graham played "Close to You." "We've Only Just Begun," "Sunrise, Sunset" and "Bridal Chorus."

"Colour My World," "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by Brian Chastain and Deanna Blaylock. A reception followed the service in the church fellowship hall.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a long off-white A-line style gown featuring a high neckline traced with delicate lace. Lace was repeated on the fitted bodice and the cuffs of the long sleeves.

Her semi-full skirt, edged in matching lace, fell gracefully into a chapel train.

She wore a Chantilly lace headpiece to secure a nylon net veil, bordered with a wide lace trim. She carried a bouquet of dried flowers, including gold pom poms and red rosebuds tied with long streamers.

Honor attendant was Mrs. Larry Cardin, the bride's sister-in-law, and the bridesmaids were Miss Debbie Cardin, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Linda Vaught, the groom's sister.

They were full-length red crepe dresses featuring long puff sleeves, trimmed in white lace, a lace yoke and pleated skirts.

Each girl held a dried floral arrangement to match the bridal bouquet carried in a natural color basket.

Dawn Cardin, a sister of the bride, served as the flower girl. She was dressed in similar style to the adult attendants and carried a miniature bouquet.

Jonny Blaylock was the ringbearer.

The groom chose Joe Panizza as his best man. Joey Gasparovic, Rob Farmlay, Larry and Ed Cardin, brothers of the bride, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

A rehearsal dinner was held at the Round Table Restaurant, Collinsville.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Cardin selected a long beige knit gown designed with a lace bodice, long sleeves and pleated skirt. The groom's mother, Mrs. Vaught, was attired in a floor-length sleeveless gown of pink knit, complemented with a pleated, long sleeve jacket.

A 1975 graduate of Granite City High School North, the bride is now employed at Cardin's Carpets as a saleslady. The groom graduated from South High School and is a manager at State Radio.

They are now residing in Granite City.

To honor community's pioneer women

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

Seven area women, two of whom are deceased, will be accorded special honors at the Granite City Business and Professional Women's "Public Relations Awards" dinner at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at Charlie's Restaurant.

Each of the women has contributed greatly to the community and pioneered in such areas as business and the professions, religion, the arts, political activity, scientific or community service. Their resumes were submitted by families and friends.

Also at the dinner, area newspapers and radio stations will be honored for service to the BPW club in the past year and individual club members will receive awards.

Bob Hardy, 1976 potentate of Almad Temple and director of special events for Radio Station KMOX, will be the principal speaker.

The Sunshine Singers, an advanced chorus from Mitchell School, will sing a selection of patriotic songs under the direction of Mrs. Beverly Williams. The group will be accompanied by Mrs. JoAnn Pelate.

The youthful singers include Tracy Aielo, Eddy Baker, Rickey Brown, Lola Burton, Chris Busby, Jeff Chase, Jon Durrett, Julie Edwards, Kim Elliott, Lisa Fitzhugh, Jimmy Franko, Beth Fronberger, Terry Gisselman, Theresa Hickman, Jennifer Hutchinson, Jack Krug, Renee Starr, Susan Slart, Jeanne Stefanoff and Jeannie Trimmer.

Mrs. Shirley Adams, BPW public relations chairman, is in charge of the dinner, assisted by Celeste Puryear, Florence Moore, Helen Christich, Lorene Sadrakula, Delores Allen, Edith Schwab, Bernadine Brinza, Louise Lewis, Kathryn Smithson, Mary Frances Lynch, Ann Graklanoff, Delores Klesh, Marionrose Lambert, Billie Schuler and Sharon Goodwin.

Outstanding women of the community, to be honored Wednesday night in the "Women in History" program are:

Mrs. Bessie Morgan Reese, 85, who lives at The Colonades nursing home. A native of Abernethy in South Wales, United Kingdom, she became the first kindergarten teacher in Granite City and taught school for 30 years.

Mrs. Reese was active in civic chorus work for many years and was director of the Musical Research Club of St. Louis for 10 years.

She studied music at Illinois and Northwestern universities and at Strassberger Conservatory of Music in St. Louis and the Chicago College of Music. She was named "Woman of the Year" by the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club in 1953.

Mrs. Reese is a member of the First United Presbyterian Church and Gabriel Shrine 78, White Shrine of Jerusalem.

After the death of her husband, Thomas Reese, in 1953 she retired from many of her community activities.

Dr. Felicia D. Koch, M.D., a physician actively engaged in general practice in Granite City, is the mother of six children and the grandmother of 13. She was born in Chicago, received her degrees from Loyola University and interned at Women's and Children's Hospitals in Chicago.

As the first woman doctor in the community, Dr. Koch helped to pave the way for other women physicians. She established an immunization clinic for indigent children on a volunteer basis in 1963 and continues to assist at the clinic each month. She organized and conducted mass community immunization programs for the prevention of typhoid, polio and rubella, and was the first medical director of a nursing home.

Dr. Koch served as president of the Madison County Medical Society in 1967; is a charter member of St. Elizabeth Hospital Auxiliary; and was active for many years in the Community Concerts program.

Dr. Koch was named Illinois Mother of the Year in 1966 and currently is Illinois State Bicentennial chair for publication of a national book, "Mothers of Achievement in American History." In 1965, Dr. Koch received the "Woman of Achievement" award in an annual contest sponsored by the St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Mrs. Fanny Epstein became active in community affairs 55 years ago and remains deeply dedicated to many such activities today. She was born in St. Louis, but has lived most of her life in Granite City.

She is a member of the Salvation Army Advisory Board and a board member of the Granite City Society for Crippled Children. She holds an honorary life membership in the YMCA Senior Citizens Club, which she helped organize in 1962.

Mrs. Epstein has been a member of the Tri-City Red Cross Chapter for many years, serving several terms as secretary. In 1942 she was appointed chairman of the Women's War Drive campaign for the Red Cross and her leadership resulted in exceeding the goal set for the women's group.

The Chamber of Commerce of the Tri-Cities selected her "Queen Regent" in 1946 to reign at a three-day celebration observing the silver anniversary of Wilson Park and to select a site for a war memorial in Granite City.

Mrs. Epstein helped organize the Granite City High School Band Parents Club in 1939 to raise money for uniforms and other needed items and is a charter member of the present band parents group.

She assisted in the office of her husband, Dr. Harry Epstein, optometrist, for over 20 years until his retirement from practice in 1974. Active in many campaigns of the Jewish Federation of Southern Illinois, she has participated as both chairman and worker. For more than two decades she has been a volunteer reporter for the group's Southern Illinois Community News and still serves in that position today.

Sister Mary Thomas (Jirach) is president and chief administrator of St. Elizabeth Hospital. She helped pioneer in the community through the largest agency dedicated to health care in this area.

"My constant endeavor is to have the best care available for our citizens," she stated. From a young age, Sister Mary Thomas always wanted to care for the sick and "envied the nurses in their profession."

The hospital president holds a bachelor of science degree in nursing and a master's degree in hospital administration.

In her current position, Sister Mary Thomas constantly looks for "gaps" in the hospital's services and tries to improve them.

She plans to continue in her field of service and to continue "pioneering" in medicine as advances are made to the betterment of all mankind and the community.

Margaret "Maggie" Mollenbrock was born in Madison County in 1881 and died in 1975. She was the first woman in the area to own and operate her own business in 1913.

Mrs. Mollenbrock dedicated her lifetime to women in the community with the services she offered in her business of operating a dry goods store. Upon the death of her fiancé, she turned her total effort into her business, improving her knowledge of the ways of commerce and helping other women advance into the business world.

She became a saleslady at the age of three years when she would take her mother's suitcase, filled with yarn for darning, and "pester" family members to "buy her products."

Mrs. Mollenbrock was always a "timid" person and never sought attention or recognition for herself as the pioneer businesswoman in the community.

Mrs. Bethel J. Davis was born in Charleston, Mo., but her life's work started in 1918 in Granite City with the "Mission Behind the Mill."

The small, non-denominational mission originated in her home and, as attendance quickly increased, the Granite City Board of Education offered the use of the former Liberty School in which to hold services.

Soon the school building was not large enough to accommodate the growing number of children and their parents who wanted to attend the church school classes. Mrs. Davis and her family then rented a building at 20th and Omaha streets, staying there until purchasing the renovated building, which now houses the Gospel Mission at 2014 E. 20th St.

Mrs. Davis continues to serve as superintendent of the mission, where evening worship services are held on Thursday and church school and evening services on Sunday.

She has sung in various choirs in the community, including the Niederrhaus United Methodist Church choir and the Civic Chorus.

From 1927 until 1962 Mrs. Davis was employed as a supervisor in four different capacities at Granite City Steel.

She states, "That I seek no honors for my lifetime work for God. These things I did and still do through Him."

She began her church training as a small child and has continued throughout the years as a

The Gardenaires Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Robert Hintz and discussed the annual meeting of the Garden Club of Illinois, Inc., set at Oak Brook, Ill., April 26-27, and the District V organizational meeting on pioneer to the community in her devotion to church work.

A monument to Miss Sophia Prather's community service stands in the form of Prather Junior High School which bears her name.

She was born in Carlyle, Ill., in 1880, but lived most of her life in Granite City until her death in 1938. She was a school teacher by profession, but her pioneer programs were directed toward adults, as well as youth.

Miss Prather served as director of the Lincoln Park Community House where she organized recreational and educational programs for youngsters and adults with volunteer help.

Citizenship and Adult English classes gave hundreds of new immigrants to this area their first opportunity to become part of a new country and their first chance to better understand a life far different from which they had previously known.

At the Community Center, Miss Prather started Sunday school and Bible school and organized Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and basketball games. She encouraged sessions in folk dancing, embroidery, quilting, dressmaking and woodcraft and directed Christmas plays and annual exhibits of children's work.

She recruited adult volunteers and older youths to help at the Community Center. In later years, the Prather family assisted in sponsoring the Citizenship classes, having realized the value of Miss Prather's efforts with the new non-English speaking residents.

She was a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club.

Miss Prather dedicated her life to the youth of Granite City and to anyone in need of education by pioneering educational and recreational activities.

A religious woman, Miss Prather's way of life and her attitude of helping others, especially the underprivileged, instilled a feeling of pride among all her pupils, young and old, and influenced many to become "better citizens."

April 29 in the home of the newly elected director, Mrs. Finis English of Fairview Heights.

Mrs. Mary Kristian, president of the local club, will attend the latter session.

It was noted the dedication ceremony at the entrance to the Madison County Bicycle and Nature Trail on Lake Drive will be at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Members described various birds seen in their yards as part of a program, entitled "Inviting Birds to Your Home," given by Mrs. Earl Glenn. She advised several natural means, such as planting flowers, shrubs, hedges and trees, to attract different types of birds.

Mrs. C. E. Eads invited the members to attend the Garden Study Club brunch at 9:30 a.m. May 5, at the Namekiki Recreation Center. Mrs. A. A. Malottki reported on the district meeting of the Fairview Heights.

Approval was given to sponsor Miss Toni Farrell, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Farrell of Alton, also attend conservation school in August.

Mrs. Farrell is a club member. After the district meeting was held, The May 13 meeting will take place at the National Garden Club's Home and Shaw's Garden.

Also attending were Mesdames John Farrell, Roy Hornum, William Long, Leo Schank, A. B. Shannon and Richard Kerch.

Independence fiesta May 14

The Mexican Honorary Commission is completing plans for the annual "Celebration De Independencia Fiesta" on May 14, it was announced this week.

The traditional fiesta celebrates Mexico's independence from the Spaniards in 1810 and the Mexican people observe the occasion as Americans celebrate the Fourth of July, a commission member explained.

A musical program will be presented at the May 14 fiesta, with performers in authentic costumes dancing to such numbers as "La Botella," "Garabe," "Cha Cha Cha," "Guadalajara" and "Garabe Tapato" (Mexican Hat Dance).

Additional information will be released at a later date concerning tickets and location of the fiesta. The event will be open to the public.

Drama and dolls at Lesche's guest day

A spring luncheon and guest day, hosted last night by the Lesche Literary Club, was held last week in the Terrace Room at Central Christian Church with 51 members and guests attending.

Mrs. Lois Lester gave the invocation preceding the moon luncheon.

Red, white and blue were used in the table decorations. Each guest was presented with a small "ditty bag" created of red, white and blue calico and filled with various small gifts.

The first part of the program included excerpts from a play, entitled "1776," to be performed in Granite City in June, by Mrs. Rogers Mefford providing the historical data and outline.

A mini-performance was presented by several cast members including Beverly Scroggins, John Mefford, David Long and Tim Quinn. They were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Cathie French.

The play concerns events leading up to and during the summer of 1776 in Philadelphia. "Dolls" was the subject of a second program given by Mrs. Bernice Meyer of Highland, who is editor of a quarterly magazine, "Bernice's Bambini," published for doll collectors.

To provide the proper atmosphere for the presentation, Mrs. Meyer dressed in a Raggedy Ann costume and displayed dolls dating back 125 years up to the modern conception of dolls.

ENERGY MANAGEMENT

One of a series discussing how we can achieve the life we want by wise use of energy.

It's an investment that pays dividends

(Just ask the people who make home improvement loans.)

An energy-tight home is - a home that makes sense for today's living

Energy management in the home, including insulation, weatherstripping, storm sash and planned use and maintenance of appliances adds up to efficient use of energy. That means greater comfort and wise use of your energy dollars. Energy management makes sense...for you, your family and our nation.

Today the home buyer, realtor and mortgage company should know how to size up a home that will provide real energy-use efficiency for the family that owns it. Any home that wastes energy is too expensive, no matter what its asking price. That's why financial institutions look at energy-use improvements as one of the soundest investments any homeowner can make.

Ask the people where you bank or save about financing insulation and other energy-use improvements for your home or business.

THE SCHERMER BULLETIN
Now that the Easter Rush is over we can settle down to our regular routine. We had some very nice hams this year and the price was "right!"

We are now in the last week of our Treasure Chest of Values promotion. This eight week program has been one of the most successful that we have ever offered. The Top Value people have been very generous with our customers in helping us to offer as many as 3000 extra Top Value stamps to every customer during that 8 week period.

We learned a lot, too. Many of our customers didn't really find out about the program until the third or fourth week. Even though we mailed out 20,000 pieces of information about it and advertised it on radio as well as newspaper, some of our good customers still didn't know about it.

We are planning another similar program later on and maybe by then someone will come up with the answer to the problem. If you have any suggestions regarding this, please let us know. Leo and Avery

for GC seniors

PARTY PLANNERS. Mrs. Kathy French and Carl Kittel, co-chairmen for a party this Sunday to entertain senior citizens at the Senior Citizen Center, 1918 Edison Ave.

DNRS members and their children will entertain with music and a talent program featuring singers, dancers and magicians. An audience participation sing-a-long will follow.

Refreshments will be served and each guest will be presented with a carry home package of nourishing food items, the chairmen reported.

Guests for the day were selected by representatives of several local senior citizen groups. Transportation to and from the party will be provided by DNRS members.

The DNRS made plans for the affair as a community service to show its appreciation for neighborhood support and dedication in its efforts to beautify and improve the downtown area, according to club officers.

The non-profit organization has sponsored house tours, neighborhood craft fairs and clean-up days since it was founded three years ago.

Members also leased a vacant lot near 22nd street and Cleveland Boulevard and created a pocket park which they maintain as a community service.

EAST BANK PLAYERS in rehearsal for their next production, "Zelda," a comedy by Sylvia Regan. From left to right are Dave Johnson, Ann Scott, Cathy Cassy, Bill Burch, Jim Fensterman, Barbara Modrusic, Alan Pieper and Wallene McGlasson. Youngster in center is Sammy Mendoza. The play will be presented next Saturday and Sunday and repeated April 30 and May 1 at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 2052 Edison Ave. Tickets are available from Gene Cassy, at 877-8753, and Mike Tharp, at 876-5963.

East Bank Players offer 'Zelda'

Producing the elements of a hurricane on a stage in Granite City is by no means an easy task, but technical know-how has mastered the problem for the East Bank Players who will present the contemporary comedy, "Zelda," by Sylvia Regan this weekend and next.

Portions of the play are set during a hurricane.

Performances will be given at 8:15 p.m. Saturday, April 24, and Saturday and Sunday, April 30 and May 1. A matinee will be presented at 2:15 p.m. Sunday, April 25.

All performances will be staged at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 2052 Edison Ave. The play is being produced through arrangements with the Dramatists Play Service, Inc. Tickets, priced at $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for senior citizens and students, are available from cast members, or at Mendoza Sporting Goods, Knights of Columbus Hall, Carroll's Fashions in Downtown Granite City, or by calling Gene Cassy, at 877-8753, or Mike Tharp, at 876-5963.

The play centers around the Hartman family and its reaction to Papa Alexander Hartman's announcement that "this world is not long for this world."

The family's attempts to force Papa Hartman back to reality and his resistance to their efforts by continuing to load supplies on board his boat to take them to safety form the basis of the story.

Principals in the cast are: Jim Fensterman as Alexander Hartman; Barb Modrusic as Rose Hartman; Bill Burch Jr. as Norman Hartman; Ann Scott as Scott Hartman; Sammy Mendoza as David Hartman; Dave Johnson as Elliott Hartman; Cathy Cassy as Geraldine Hartman; Jerry Tracy as Jim Corey; Wallene McGlasson as Chris Corey and Joni Smith as Suzi Corey.

Understudies for several roles who will perform at the Sunday matinee, include: Norma Mendoza as Chris Corey; Carol Bogosian as Geraldine Hartman; Eric Scott as David Hartman; and Dan McGee as Elliott Hartman.

The East Bank Players, Inc. is a non-profit community theater group dedicated to the tradition of live theater.

Ways to avoid excessive debt

By DR. ROWENA LUTZ
Director

STUE Consumer Information
Many people in our society are paying off some type of debt—a house, a car, medical bills or other loans.

Most manage to make the payments. However, many people are not.

Often the reason is not due to lack of income. The reason most often is "poor choices."

Money is more than a medium of exchange for practically all people. It is often used to indicate self-worth.

People who have difficulty managing money are frequently unrealistic about money matters. Examples are the husband who does not know the approximate amount needed for household expenses or the wife who doesn't even know necessary bills that must be paid.

The National Foundation of Consumer Credit lists some indications of financial problems as:

—Charging everyday expenditures, such as groceries and toiletries.

—Postponing paying of all monthly bills.

—Borrowing money to pay fixed expenses, such as taxes, insurance or loans.

—Inability to tell exactly how much one owes.

—Long-term payments that exceed 20-25 percent of income.

According to the Foundation, if a person or family has two of the above problems, financial problems may be developing.

Overseeing is easy to do in our society. It takes discipline to determine what one can afford and to purchase accordingly.

Terri J. Davis becomes Mrs. Arthur Asadorian

Miss Terri Jean Davis, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Davis, 2721 Sunset Drive, became the bride of Arthur Asadorian, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Asadorian, 2117 Grand Ave., on March 6 at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Ira Theoford, former pastor of the church, performed the double-ring ceremony at 6 o'clock in the evening.

Miss Melanie Asadorian, a sister of the groom, sang, "Sunrise, Sunset" and "The Wedding Song" prior to the ceremony, accompanied at the organ by Miss Lisa Groothuis.

prayer, was sung during the service.

For her wedding, the former Miss Davis, wore a long ivory organza gown enhanced with Cluny lace on the high neckline, bodice and full-length sleeves.

An Empire-waist accented the A-line silhouette skirt also trimmed with Cluny lace motifs and terminated at the hemline with a ruffled flounce which formed a cathedral train.

A finger-tip veil of bridal illusion was attached to Cluny lace Juliet-style headpiece. She carried a colonial bouquet of white mums, white roses and greenery intertwined with English ivy.

Maid of honor, Miss Denise Davis, a sister of the bride and bridesmaids, Tina Perdue, Janet Hassel, a cousin of the bride, Chris Heilman and Linda McBride, chose formal-length pure green jersey knit dresses.

Designed with Empire waistslines, the gowns were worn with Cluny lace ruffle on the bodices to create a bib effect, and on the high necklines.

They held colonial bouquets of green mums and baby's breath.

Attending the groom as best man was Michael Hagopian. Groomsmen and ushers included Eddie Asadorian, a brother of the groom, Charles Vartan, David Matosian, Leo Nighossian, Bill Hassel, a cousin of the bride, Virgil Kambarian, the groom's cousin, and Steve Hagopian.

A reception was held at the Croatian Hall after the service.

Mrs. Davis, mother of the bride, selected a persimmon knit full-length gown fashioned in a shirtwaist style with bone color accessories.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Asadorian, was attired in a pastel blue knit long dress complemented with silver accessories. Both mothers wore cymbidium orchids.

The bride couple graduated from Granite City High School South and both attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The former Miss Davis is now employed as an audit clerk at the St. Louis Postal Data Center. Her husband works as a campus monitor at South High School.

They are now residing in Granite City.

BREAK INTO OFFICE
A window was broken and entry to the cafeteria supervisor's office of American Steel Foundries, 1720 Poplar St., was gained by climbing through the opening, it was reported Thursday. The desk was searched, but nothing was believed stolen.

Celsius thermometer includes flaming forties and frosty fives

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK
Madison County Extension
Adviser-Home Economics
When the weatherman says it's 35 degrees outside, should you don an overcoat or slip into the simplest swimsuit?

He's probably talking about 35 degrees Fahrenheit, and Celsius is a better name for the warm coat. But in a few years, he'll mean 35 degrees Celsius, which is definitely swimsuit weather.

The conversion to metrics in this country includes a change of temperature scales. Although Celsius is a new name, the scale has been used for years by scientists; it used to be called centigrade.

The basic Celsius scale runs from 0 degrees, the freezing point of water (32 degrees Fahrenheit), to 100 degrees — the boiling point of water (212 degrees Fahrenheit).

You can convert any Celsius temperature into Fahrenheit by multiplying it by 1.8 and adding 32. Thus, 35 degrees Celsius equals 95 degrees Fahrenheit.

Relating degrees Celsius to weather conditions may be made easier by using these guidelines from the Sydney, Australia, Morning Herald:

The flaming forties — 35 to 45 degrees Celsius — heat-wave weather (95 to 113 degrees Fahrenheit).

The thirty thirties — 25 to 35 degrees Celsius — hot summer temperatures (77 to 95 degrees Fahrenheit).

The temperate twenties — 15 to 25 degrees Celsius — cool to warm (59 to 77 degrees Fahrenheit).

The chilly teens — 5 to 15 degrees Celsius — cool (41 to 59 degrees Fahrenheit).

The frosty fives — minus 5 to 5 degrees Celsius (23 to 41 degrees Fahrenheit).

Navy Mothers to install

A memorial for the late Mrs. Pearl Giffin was sent to the national headquarters of Navy Mothers by the local Chapter 850 following a meeting Thursday evening at the VFW Hall.

The Mystery package was won by Mrs. Von Nida and prizes were presented to Nellie Dix, Jean Teller and Patsy Finley.

A business meeting will be held May 6.

Rev. Cawston will relate some of his experiences and will tell of the progress of missions in India, Ceylon, the Philippines and in Europe.

Dr. and Mrs. Cawston are working under the auspices of the Foreign Missions Department of the General Council of the Assemblies of God with headquarters in Springfield, Mo. They have spent five terms on the field, the first under the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada.

At present he serves at the Continental Bible College, Brussels, to which he is returning immediately.

ILLINOIS STATE TROOPER HONORED. Jon C. Lybarger, center, a member of the Illinois State Police assigned to District 11 at Maryville was honored Wednesday evening for the assistance given to Explorer Post 10-4 and the Madison Police in recent crime

Carpools, transit may not be panacea for energy problems

Mass transit and carpooling, often hailed as the answer to the country's energy shortage problems, may have only minimal energy savings effects in the coming decade. In fact, the only way to achieve significant energy savings in passenger transportation in the next 10 years may be to improve new car fuel economies.

This conclusion comes from an analysis in an April issue of Science, the weekly journal of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. In "Transportation Energy Conservation Policies," Eric Hirst, formerly with the Federal Energy Administration and now with the Oak Ridge National Laboratory, compares energy savings likely to result from four major policies designed to reduce fuel use for transportation: raising federal taxes on gasoline, requiring better gas mileage for new cars, increasing carpooling, and improving bus and rail systems. According to Hirst, there are two ways to improve new car fuel economies — increased gasoline prices and legislation. Initially, he believes the most powerful method for cutting down fuel consumption would be to increase gasoline prices by 20 per cent.

By greatly slowing the growth rate in gasoline use, the nation could save the equivalent of 484,000 barrels of crude oil a day in 1985 and 700,000 barrels a day in 1995, he says.

However, in the long run, the more effective method might be to increase new car gasoline mileage (fuel economy averages). With an increase of from 14 miles per gallon (mpg) in 1974 to 20 mpg in 1980 and to 22 mpg in 1985, the savings could reach the equivalent of 568,000 barrels of crude oil a day in 1980 and 1,327,000 barrels a day in 1985. Recent federal legislation requires 20 mpg in 1980 and 27.5 mpg in 1985.

Current programs for increasing carpooling have had only a minimal impact on energy savings, Hirst observes. This is primarily because higher increased parking rates and fewer parking areas have mainly affected drivers traveling to and from work, who make up only a third of all auto traffic.

This has done little to affect non-work trips, which are more sensitive to changes in dollar and time costs.

Mass transit also offers only a small short-term potential contribution to energy conservation, Hirst says, since buses and rails account for only a small fraction of the total urban passenger traffic.

Reductions of fares, expanded coverage of metropolitan areas, and a greater number of vehicles on regular routes in many cities have resulted in some increases in the use of these systems. However, since less than half the increase in new riders has come from former automobile drivers, the energy impacts have been almost negligible, he asserts.

The long-term potential of mass transit might well be much greater, Hirst notes, and he urges that improvement projects be undertaken now to realize such potential. Changes in urban travel patterns are likely to require at least a decade because of long lags associated with changes in land use patterns, auto ownership and individual attitudes toward public transportation.

Hirst concludes that the greatest fuel conservation in the near future will require a combination of better gasoline mileage with disincentives for driving automobiles (such as higher gas taxes) and improvement of alternatives (carpooling and mass transit, among others); such a combination would maximize energy savings while minimizing the penalties to current automobile owners.

Wheat streak mosaic disease is confirmed

Wheat streak mosaic disease has been confirmed in at least 15 counties in the southern half of Illinois, including Madison County.

Mal Shortt, University of Illinois Extension plant pathologist, says yield losses from this winter wheat disease can range up to 100 per cent, depending on the time of infection.

Fields that now show several symptoms were infected last fall and will yield little, if any grain. Fields that are severely infected can be cut for silage or plowed down cleanly and planted to corn, soybeans or sorghum.

Shortt says fields infected now or later this spring are likely to cause lesser yield losses. Such losses are usually less than 20 per cent. Fields most likely to be severely infected are those which were double-cropped last year. Fields where volunteer wheat was present in 1975 are also susceptible to infection.

When checking fields for wheat streak mosaic, he urges farmers to look for light green to faint yellow blotches or streaks in the leaves parallel to the veins. Infected plants later become stunted and develop a general yellow mottling, except for a few green streaks or blotches in the leaves.

Severely infected fields now have areas where the plants are largely a golden yellow and are moderately to severely stunted. An abnormally large number of dwarfed tillers often is present.

Growers checking their fields usually keep in mind that there are other causes of yellowing in wheat or uneven stands. Since wheat may be infected by several viruses, field diagnosis is difficult.

Shortt recommends that a sample be sent to the University of Illinois Plant Disease Clinic for confirmation of the infection before a decision is made to plow down wheat. Samples can be sent through the Madison County extension office.

Plowing wheat down now will largely destroy the wheat curl mite that transmits the wheat streak virus. Migrant mites transmit the virus from volunteer wheat to early planted wheat. Control for this disease includes destroying all volunteer wheat, old wheat stubble, and all weed grasses in the same or adjoining fields two weeks before planting. Wheat also is sowed as late as practical in the fall after the fly free date.

There are no resistant wheat varieties currently recommended for Illinois. And chemical control of the wheat curl mite has not been successful.

The "Bob Kuban Brass" will be featured at the annual Madison Police Unit 10 dance Saturday, May 8, beginning at 8 p.m. in the Croatian Hall, 1001 Madison Ave., Madison.

Officer Donald Bridick, dance chairman, said, "Our dance is open to the public and I am sure everyone will have a good time. Due to the large crowd last year only a limited number of tickets will be sold on a first-come, first-served basis."

Tickets are $3 and may be purchased from any Madison police officer, or ordered by calling the Madison Police Department 876-4300.

Funds raised by the dance will be used to help assist Explorer Post 104 which is sponsored by Madison police. The Explorer organization has a membership of 40 young men from the Quad-City area interested in career law enforcement. Monies will also be used to support other youth and charitable projects of the police.

Several prizes will be given away during the evening, according to Bridick.

State to continue watch on E. St. Louis schools

"East St. Louis school problems are not over," State Superintendent of Education Joseph M. Cronin said last week following the annual school board election.

"Much progress has been made, but the indictment of Clyde Jordan, just re-elected as an East St. Louis school board member and retiring board president, makes it obvious that the school district will continue to need assistance," Cronin said. "We intend to continue that close watch."

"We will be involved until county and local officials agree that the financial and educational credit ratings of the district are restored."

A spring "report card" on East St. Louis schools will be issued by Dr. Cronin soon. It will be the second in a series, the first having been issued last December.

Cronin led a team of 87 state staff members to East St. Louis to monitor and judge the April 10 school election, which he termed "relatively smooth."

East St. Louis school board members had requested the state's presence.

Cronin praised the State Board of Elections, St. Clair Regional Education Superintendent Martha O'Malley and State Senator Kenneth Hall for "expert assistance in guaranteeing an honest election and minimizing controversy over balloting procedures."

He said that his own visits to the polling places convinced him that any efforts to manipulate the election could not succeed.

"I was concerned that one member of the board promoted the use of paper ballots and was actively politicking for two candidates out of the seven while simultaneously swearing in 'neutral judges,'" he noted.

Cronin said he checked out reports of possible irregularities in one precinct.

"Our number one concern is getting the dollars translated into educational programs for children and adults," Cronin said. "Only then can we help break the cycle of unemployment, poverty and sub-standard schools," he added.

He commended State Assistant Superintendents Richard Haney, Joshua Johnson and Richard Small, along with state education staff members Phil Garrett and Richard Johnson, for "effective assistance" to the East St. Louis schools and supervision of the election.

Cronin also visited two polling places in Cahokia to observe voting procedures in that school system, accompanied by Mrs. O'Malley. Cahokia's schools currently are under state and federal orders to desegregate.

At one poll, Cronin said, he was alarmed at reports that public officials were telling poll judges not to read aloud the names and addresses of the voters. "How could poll watchers make complaints about illegal procedures if they didn't know who voted?" he asked rhetorically.

School elections are just as vital as political elections," Supt. Cronin emphasized.

"Millions of dollars are spent, and the course of education for boys and girls throughout Illinois is largely determined by the local boards of education."

"All of us should recognize the importance of this unpaid service to our children and the communities in which they live."

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kaegel, 2721 Madison Ave., have just returned from a week-long trip to London, England. As an agent for Kansas City Life Insurance Co., he qualified for himself and his wife to attend the company's President's Club seminar.

"They attended several business seminars conducted by company executives and had the opportunity to exchange ideas with other professionals in the life insurance business."

5-year license plates proposed

Michael J. Howlett, secretary of state, who is taking several steps to alleviate recent law enforcement concerns over access to current vehicle information, believes a multi-year license plate system would provide a long-range solution.

Howlett said Thursday that in the next two weeks his office will have an additional 500,000 automobile purchases identified by title and plate numbers, and sorted into a plate number sequence for use in law enforcement inquiries.

Using this index when a "not in file" manual look-up is received, Howlett's employees can locate the plate, find the title on microfilm and provide the data.

Howlett said an additional 300,000 passenger renewals for 1976 will be entered on the computer's master file of information in the next three weeks.

Currently, more than four million, or 80 per cent, of the 1976 calendar year registrations are on file.

The information is available to law enforcement agencies in a matter of seconds through a telecommunications interface, or link, between the Law Enforcement Administration Data System (LEADS) computer and the secretary's computer.

Howlett said that registration title and transfer documents are being received in his office at a rate of 15,000 to 16,000 per day.

The data entry staff is processing 11,000 to 15,000 each day, resulting in a daily backlog of 3,000 to 5,000 documents.

Howlett added that these backlogs would be eased with implementation of a multi-year license plate system, which would keep vehicle information more current on the computer.

"Our license plate registration files would be more complete and up-to-date for inquiries from law enforcement agencies," said Howlett.

"All plate numbers would remain constant for easy identification of vehicles."

So far this year, the computer's master file of records for 4.15 million calendar year vehicles, or 83 per cent, have had to be rebuilt to match the owners with their new plates.

Howlett said the delay in updating the master file for these vehicles would be a major problem only once every five years for a five-year registration system.

Computer system said to be reducing duplicate public aid

A new $1,000,000 computer system developed by the Illinois Department of Public Aid is being nationally publicized by IBM as a possible method of eradicating duplicate welfare assistance to public aid recipients.

James L. Trainor, state public aid director, said last week that Illinois' Client Information System (CIS), which has also gained the attention of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, will this year alone save taxpayers in excess of $1.5 million.

IBM featured the Illinois computer system at a seminar for welfare marketing executives.

CIS, in addition to eliminating duplicate assistance, also is designed to assure rapid assistance to needy individuals and families determined eligible for welfare payments.

Trainor said CIS provides a direct link-up between the agency's headquarters office in Springfield with the 125 county and district offices throughout Illinois that service the state's more than 1,000,000 welfare recipients.

"Illinois now has the capability to respond quickly and efficiently to the needs of public aid clients. At the same time, the department can manage operations so that only those who need assistance receive it and those who do not meet basic requirements are excluded from public aid," Trainor asserted.

The Client Information System, financed on a 50 percent federal matching funds formula, provides the information and data processing necessary to support the following department of public aid programs:

1. Public assistance cases receiving medical aid, income grants and food stamps.
2. Assistance cases receiving only medical aid.
3. Public assistance cases receiving only food stamps.
4. Foster care cases administered by the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services but receiving medical aid through the Department of Public Aid.

"Significant benefits have accrued from the consolidation of one agency's previous 10 computer files into a single client data base file. When the information in these files was integrated into the single client data base, inconsistent case data and costly duplications were uncovered and eliminated," Trainor said. "As a result:

"The issuance of duplicate grant checks was eliminated in about 200 cases, saving the department $370,000 a year; 480 cases of duplicate medical aid cards were eliminated.

International wing opens

The new International Wing at Lambert-St. Louis International Airport was officially opened during a public ceremony Thursday afternoon.

The building was dedicated to the memory of Charles A. Lindbergh.

An exact replica of Lindbergh's plane, the Spirit of St. Louis, has been suspended in the two-story lobby area of the International Wing. The plane is on permanent loan to the airport from the Missouri Historical Society.

The day marked the fiftieth anniversary of scheduled airmail service from St. Louis. Lindbergh was one of the chief pilots.

The $7.7 million International Wing will serve as the international flights coming into St. Louis with modern federal inspection facilities. It is also available for use by charter or supplemental carriers.

The building was designed around the use of "transmats"—mobile lounge vehicles which transport passengers to and from remotely parked aircraft.

Speakers included Mayor John H. Packer; David E. Leigh, chairman of the St. Louis Airport Commission; Manuel Sosa de la Vega, president of Mexicana Airlines; John Lindbergh, executive director of the Missouri Historical Society; and Claude Rakewell, St. Louis postmaster.

Anti-rabies shots for dogs urged

The Madison County Animal Control Department is alerting dog owners that the spring season is a good time to have dogs vaccinated against rabies.

Illinois state law requires vaccination of all dogs, four months of age and over, except those kept in an enclosed area at all times.

"The vaccination is to protect your pet as well yourself and your family," Dr. Carl H. Rogers, administrator, says. Illinois law recognizes rabies vaccination for either one year or three years depending on the age of the dog and the vaccine used.

If the owner desires a three-year vaccination for his dog, he should inform his veterinarian before inoculation.

A dog must be at least one year of age at the time of vaccination and the veterinarian must use certain vaccines that are approved by the state. Dr. Rogers related.

"Rabies in dogs has not been reported in Madison County in the last three years but several cases have been found in skunks, opossums, cats, horses and cattle.

"The Animal Control Department considers the high percentage of dogs vaccinated as one of the factors contributing to the low incidence."

Cities and problems need not be synonymous, engineer says

The word "cities" has become synonymous with problems, according to Albert Scipio, professor of space sciences at Howard University, Wash., D.C. He was guest lecturer for the Science and Engineering Club of the Supplemental Instruction Program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville last week.

Scipio spoke about urban problems and ways in which urban systems' engineers go about finding answers. "Cities are a composite of many problems," he stressed.

"Almost 85 per cent of the population is concentrated in and around four cities. These are the industrial centers of Chicago, Denver, Los Angeles and New York. Labor force to these cities and, in turn, the cities become havens for the unemployed.

"Ability to solve these problems requires experts from sociology, psychology, anthropology and other fields to come together and analyze in what areas of the cities the problems lie. We aren't an instant answer machine. We can merely lay out alternatives for city planners to follow."

Scipio said that when an urban systems engineer works on a city's problems, he must take into account such things as the cultural aspects of the city, including education and religion; the activities of the people; the government; and the city's economic foundation.

He feels that urban problems today should not be as difficult to deal with as they are. "I contend we are not able to solve them because the government is not 100 per cent behind us. When they are behind things, as they were behind the Westward movement many years ago, there is success."

Prof. Scipio concluded by informing SIUE students of job opportunities in urban systems engineering. "At present, we are not as much in demand because the government doesn't feel as much of a trust in engineers as we think they should," he said.

Native of Juarez, Mexico, he received his bachelor's degree in architecture from the Tusage Institute of Alabama, and advanced degrees in structural mechanics and a doctorate in mechanics from the University of Minnesota.

He has areas of specialization in bio-mechanics, celestial mechanics, shell structures and building and urban systems.

In 1955 he was a Fulbright Professor at Cairo University in Giza, Egypt, and has been a consultant for the Walter Reed Army Institute of Washington, D.C., the National Science Foundation, Department of Housing and Urban Development, and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Knowledge Availability Systems Center at the University of Pittsburgh.

Charters granted

The state of Illinois has granted a foreign corporation charter to Wilson Park Estates Inc., of Delaware, which lists an address at 8 Parktowne Drive in Granite City.

Conducted by John Kendall, the Chamber Orchestra will perform several compositions, including works by Bach, Grieg, and Pergolesi.

The young violinists will play not only compositions from their own repertory, but also will perform the difficult Vivaldi Concerto for Violin, accompanied by the orchestra.

Students in the SIUE String Development Program are taught according to the Suzuki method, Kendall said. Suzuki, a Japanese educator and violinist, founded the Talent Education movement in Japan, which emphasizes early childhood education in music.

Young violinists will be soloists

Twenty-five young violinists selected from the String Development Program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will be featured soloists at a concert in the First Baptist Church of Edwardsville Sunday, April 25, at 7:30 p.m.

Among them are Angela Grusap, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Grusap, 1412 Washington Ave., Madison, and Cathy Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barry Murphy, 214 Warren Lane, Michoud.

The children will be accompanied by the SIUE Chamber Orchestra.

In the United States, the method has generated extensive interest among music teachers. Thousands of children now learn to play violin, cello and piano based on Suzuki's materials and philosophy.

The philosophy is based on the theory that any child with normal mental ability to learn to speak by repetition of sound can also learn to play the violin by the same method, Kendall explains.

Admission to the concert is free, and the public is invited to attend.

Madison Amvets to elect May 6

A nominating committee to propose a slate of officers for Amvets Post 204 in Madison has been appointed by Commander Vasile Gravelle and instructed to present the slate at the Thursday, May 6, meeting.

Joseph Papa, membership chairman, reported that a few members had not paid their current dues and these should be paid at the next meeting.

The Amvets approved expenses for Commander Gravelle and Vice-Commander William Madson to attend the Illinois State Amvets convention to be held in Waukegan, Ill., June 17 through 20.

Golf Tournament Chairman Thomas Brunel reported that plans for the event scheduled Sunday, April 25, at Arlington Golf Club are complete. Pairings have been drawn and are posted on the club bulletin board.

Gravelle thanked the membership that helped host the National officers visit. He said the National Commander James Welsh "was well pleased" with Post 204.

School board meet delayed at Madison

The Madison Board of Education met Thursday night to reorganize, but was unable to obtain a quorum and recessed the meeting until 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the board office, 1707 Fourth St., Madison.

It was explained that three members of the board encountered transportation problems returning from a convention in San Francisco, Calif., and were not in town for the meeting. Members present Thursday night were Chester McManaway, Donald Boyer and Frank Eaves. Willie Walker, who is resigning, was also absent.

Innovations may be part of answer to school cost dilemma

Granite City Community Unit School District Nine is in the unusual position of having reduced its overall tax rate steadily for several years while simultaneously growing increasingly worried about cost patterns that seem to portend difficult times ahead.

The Illinois Task Force on Declining Enrollment, in a 1975 report to the State Board of Education, noted that "in Illinois, operating expenditures per pupil rose from $738 in fiscal year 1968 to $1,360 by fiscal year 1974. Expenditures in 'real' dollars rose during that same period from $709 to $924. A considerable part of the increased costs, then, is due to inflation, with the remainder resulting from more and better services and programs."

In District Nine during the same period, per-pupil expenditures rose from $535 to $1,246. The figures compare well with the state average but, with enrollment downturns, state aid based on average daily attendance begins to decline.

A local administrative study notes that "it takes a sustained enrollment decline before a school district can begin to expect a decline in expenditure, and then only if everything remains constant — the economy remains the same, the state mandates no additional programs, and the federal government makes no changes in funding or in mandating new programs."

The U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare estimates

nationally a 25 per cent rise in operating costs between 1972-73 and 1982-83 while also projecting a 12 per cent enrollment decrease due to the birthrate outlook. Since the 1969-70 school year, District Nine has sustained a 12 per cent decline in enrollment.

A 26-cent tax rate reduction here for each $100 assessment over the past three years is attributed to "the board immediately eliminating taxes when their specific use is past, and the district's vigorous seeking of state and federal monies that help reduce expenditures from local revenues."

Unfortunately, the extent of state and federal participation is never assured until received, and the state's departure from initial revenue offers for this year will result in $8,840,018 received by District Nine in the 1975-76 school year, slightly less than the $8,849,353 in 1974-75.

Because staff accounts for 82 per cent of the district's operating budget, any significant cutbacks inevitably must relate to the number of personnel.

Extreme departures from the concept of direct teacher-student instructional contact will need to be avoided. But perhaps there could be some increase in efficiency without loss of effectiveness over a period of time, through greater use of such innovations as instructional videotapes and computerized "answer machines."

Environmental concerns on both sides of Alton dam issue

Comment by Alton Telegraph — Environmentalists, largely responsible for delay in development of the deep waterways as they play into the hands of railroads, should be interested in observations of Pilot George C. Gantt Sr. of the H. R. Zimmerman. The Zimmerman, he said, is holding its position in line for passage through the Alton locks by application of power.

The public may assume that the tows waiting in line are merely anchored or moored. To hold its place in line, it must burn 40 to 50 gallons of fuel per hour. Though this compares with 200 or more gallons per hour when the tow is in motion, it is not only a waste of the fuel which environmentalists are dedicated to conserve, but it also contributes to contamination of the atmosphere.

One of the questions raised by environmentalists over development of river traffic has been the damage done to river life. But the current tieup is keeping tows in position on Alton Lake, some with their engines running, turning their screws in a manner that could flush up the bottom of the lake. Only the flushing continues in localized spots, without accomplishing anything.

Pilot Gantt's reminder that crewmen are constantly on the alert for development of leaks in the barges should alert us to the added hazards of keeping these tows parked for any length of time.

The current situation is only a temporary emergency of high exaggeration, unlikely to be repeated with any alarming frequency. Still, it emphasizes some considerations of which we've been reminding readers in relation to stalling of traffic here. Even heavy glut of traffic during normal operation of the Alton locks pose a limited increase in the same dangers and/or nuisances.

Locks inadequate to handle traffic steadily can increase the frequency and extent of these traffic jams.

CRESTED BEAUT

Charity— sometimes a 'ripoff'

By WILLIAM J. SCOTT

Illinois Attorney General

A sad story recently appeared in the nation's news. It concerned the diligent efforts of hundreds of people to collect supermarket computer price codes to aid in the acquisition of kidney dialysis machines for victims of kidney failure.

According to the National Kidney Foundation, the plan was a cruel hoax — a charity ripoff — perpetrated by well-intentioned rumor.

The NKF said there is no known program whereby the collection of computer price codes — or used cigarette packs, or used tea bags, or pull tabs from aluminum cans (other forms of the same hoax) — could result in a trade for a dialysis machine.

Charitable frauds are, in my opinion, among the most heinous forms of frauds. Although, according to the NKF, the source of this erroneous scheme could not be pinpointed — and although it involved no known loss or misuse of funds — it did involve the scared emotions and faith of human beings, both those awaiting much-needed help and those trying to provide it.

The Illinois attorney general's office, through its Charitable Trusts and Solicitations Division, last year was involved in 32 lawsuits with charitable organizations and private foundations, including purported charitable solicitations.

Additionally, the division has continued to file lawsuits against professional fund raisers who retain a disproportionate amount of money raised.

Based on our litigation, it has been discovered that in cases where certain charitable organizations contract with a professional fund raiser to promote a specific fund raising event, the fund raiser retains from 85 to 90 per cent of the gross receipts and turns over as little as 10 to 15 per cent to the charity.

In one such case, filed in Lake

County, it was discovered that two per cent of the gross receipts went to the sponsoring charitable organization, a police benevolent association.

Our litigation consistently seeks to obtain more monies for the charitable organizations.

Of interest and most notable of the types of abuses — prevent in direct mail fund-raising for public charities and discovered by this office — is one such case currently pending in Cook County Circuit Court.

In People vs. National Foundation for the Handicapped and Disabled, an organization based in Chicago which solicited monies nationwide through mass mailings allegedly on behalf of handicapped individuals, our office discovered an amazing activity.

Our litigation has pointed to the five-year fund raising program which raised $1.4 million by expending $1.47 million in costs and expenses.

The net effect of this was that little money went for charitable purposes, if it did involve the fund itself in debt to the fund raiser in an amount exceeding $125,000.

Our litigation seeks to permanently enjoin the fund raiser and the organization from soliciting in Illinois, in order to protect members of the public from this questionable activity.

Another form of charitable fraud involves so-called "fast buck promoters."

Last summer, my office filed these lawsuits against several promoters who sold products allegedly made by handicapped and blind individuals.

On such organization, Handicapped Workers, was operated by out-of-state individuals who had branch offices in Northern Illinois.

These offices recruited students to solicit by telephone in "hotline" atmosphere. Our litigation proved that a great majority of the sales price was retained by the promoters and that a small percentage ultimately benefited handicapped persons.

Reader of Playboy won't let other citizens decide what he should read

To the Editor:

This is an open letter to the Pontoon Beach Village Board — I read in the Press-Record where you have chosen to ban Playboy on newsstands in your city.

In response to this, I have chosen to ban myself or any member of my family from purchasing anything in Pontoon Beach.

Further, should Granite City decide to adopt such a medieval, paralytic, asinine ordinance, I will boycott stores here which previously sold these magazines and decide to knuckle under to small-minded dictatorship.

It is exactly that when one man dictates to another what he may or may not buy to read. I am a staunch supporter of Playboy for its overall content.

My interviews are very interesting, particularly one a few months ago featuring Jimmy Hoffa, taped only two weeks before his kidnapping.

I have two young sons whom I would not want to see some of the pictures in Playboy. But when they become of age to understand, they will be allowed to read the book after I'm finished.

If this shocks some people, fine. I do not happen to feel the human anatomy is dirty or obscene, unless it is shown crushed and mangled in a car wreck, or torn apart by shrapnel wounds.

If this decision of the board was carried to the voters to decide and the book was banned, I would have to go a little more with the ordinance, but not entirely.

You see, some of us still wouldn't give back our magazine because of fear of being rapped by small-minded neighbors.

Just for the record, I'm not an exhibitionist. I'm a truck driver, a Teamster and a darn good one.

I'm not a pervert. I'm a father of two good little boys and I pray, a good father.

Yes, I pray, I believe in God and in Jesus Christ.

And we mortals are too small and too temporary to judge what another may or may not read.

If this book appeals to your prurient interests, board members, then maybe what's lacking is within yourselves.

Basketball for young people praised

To the Editor:

The Madison Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People would like to tip our hats to two outstanding people in our community, Larry Boyd of the Venice Recreation Center and Ed Foley of the Madison County Housing Authority.

Most people were not aware that a winter basketball program was going on at the Dunbar School every Thursday evening supervised by Mr. Boyd and friends, and supported by Mr. Foley for the children of the housing project.

We would like to thank the Madison School Board for extending the facilities of the school.

The young people are willing to listen and learn if we only take time out and help them. The most important thing now is to keep our young people busy.

JOHN HENRY WILLIAMS
Vice-President

the financial management of private foundations. Within the last year, several lawsuits were filed against foundation directors for failure to properly invest cash, for failure to obtain income on non-productive land in foundation portfolios, and for conflict of interest in utilization of foundation assets.

I supported legislation introduced in the Illinois Legislature last year which sought to strengthen the Illinois Solicitations Act and require a greater per cent of dollars contributed by a generous Illinois citizen to be devoted to charitable purposes.

HB 2019, as amended, would require a minimum of 50 per cent of monies solicited from the public to be utilized for charitable purposes.

Although this bill passed the House, it was defeated in the Senate Judiciary Committee. I believe this bill is necessary and will reintroduce it again this year.

In addition to constantly monitoring the use of state organizations and professional fund raisers, the Illinois attorney general's office reviews

MARRIAGE LICENSES!

"I DON'T CARE IF IT'S NEVER BEEN USED, WE DON'T GIVE REFUNDS!"

Long 'lame duck' period ahead

As a sign of the times, the University of Illinois —

the biggest by far of the state's higher educational institutions — has served notice that it will go directly to the Legislature to try for a $21 million budget increase.

Walker has requested that the state colleges and universities reduce next year's budgets.

The Illinois Board of Higher Education has recommended a total of $687 million for the next fiscal year.

In all, the state board had asked $880 million for higher education in Illinois, but Walker has recommended that this be trimmed to $817 million.

It was interesting to see if other boards, which operate various other state colleges and universities, follow U. of I. precedent and strike out on their own in the Legislature.

Such a trend would further curtail the Legislature's role in state education, which already shows some signs of heading toward congressional chaos.

These efforts are also certain to force more money in state assistance to the elementary and secondary schools. School board associations, teachers groups and others active in the schools field are not resigned to accept Walker reductions in earlier fund requests despite the failure of a veto override attempt last winter.

Throughout the state, local school boards have been cutting back in teacher staffs and programs. Few school districts, large or small, have not been affected one way or another.

The situation is expected to get worse by the time the fall term begins in late August. The amount of state aid to schools is likely to become an important issue in the November gubernatorial campaign.

Secretary of State Michael J. Levine's strong stand in favor of full funding for school districts is regarded as one of the factors that contributed to his primary victory over Walker.

Republican candidate for governor, also took a stand in favor of full funding of education at the elementary and secondary level. But he was more cautious as to how the necessary additional money — about $178 million — could be raised. He talked vaguely of "a reordering of priorities" in state spending.

Education is a tough problem here and now. Legislators and others in state government have their fingers crossed concerning another trouble area, public aid.

There have been hopes that the improving economy will reduce unemployment and that anticipated spending for public aid will be adequate. However, many unemployed are exhausting their 56 weeks of full benefits and this could mean a new drain on the hard-pressed general assistance fund.

The primary is over but there will be no rest for lame duck legislators or the lame duck governor. A challenging and hectic nine months lie ahead.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF INTENT TO PERFORM FLOOD ELEVATION STUDY FOR MADISON COUNTY, ILLINOIS (UNINCORPORATED AREAS)
The Federal Insurance Administration of the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development announced today that under authority of the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968, as amended (P.L. 90-401), and the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (P.L. 93-234), it will fund a detailed study of the flood hazard areas in Madison County, Illinois, (unincorporated areas).

Stevenson tours county, favors Alton dam project

By KEN THOMPSON
Press-Record Staff Writer

United States Senator Adlai Stevenson III, Illinois Democrat, began a two-day tour of Madison County and other sections of Southern Illinois Thursday, with the Alton locks and dam and Carlyle Lake receiving his primary attention.

Stevenson viewed the Mississippi River problem at Alton where boats had been stalled at the locks since April 8 after a cell in the main lock wall collapsed.

Noting Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett's statement that more than 86 boats with more than 790 barges containing grain, coal and fuel cargo were backed up waiting their turns through a small lock, while the larger one is being repaired, the Senator said he is prepared to introduce legislation to replace the present Alton lock and dam, and also study the present proposal of constructing a second lock which the U.S. Corps of Engineers has proposed at a site located nearly two miles downstream from the present locks and dam.

Stevenson said he supports Howlett's views that construction of a new lock and dam would benefit Illinois' economy and insure that grain shipments move swiftly from the Midwest to southern ports.

Certain environmentalists have opposed such a construction because they say the new lock and dam would increase barge traffic and destroy wildlife refuges on the upper Mississippi and Illinois rivers in addition to creating further pollution of the river.

Congressional hearings on the proposed $390 million project are expected this fall.

Stevenson voiced concern over occasional flooding of farmlands surrounding the Carlyle dam and lake which has resulted in soil erosion.

"If necessary," he said, "I will seek federal aid to help alleviate that situation."

The Senator related to Nelson Hagnauer, chairman of the Madison County Board and Granite City Township supervisor, that he also is studying the needs and usefulness of the current manpower program here.

"I had been against the revenue sharing program," said Stevenson, "but after lengthy discussions with state, county and municipal officials, I'm beginning to change my mind."

Stevenson, fearing possible misapplications of funds received, now believes "possibly a drafting of federal guidelines and strict enforcement of them for disbursements of the monies, could eliminate many of the problems involving revenue sharing."

He also is of the opinion that this country needs to strive toward energy-producing independence.

"The high cost of energy is a primary cause of inflation and recession," he said.

"People do not realize the dangers being created by present conflicts in the Middle East, and most are ignoring a possibility of another Arab oil embargo."

Stevenson says that with the growing power of the Soviet Union over the world oil control, the United States domestic energy crisis is not over.

"The central issues of this country are not being faced," he added.

"And serious discussions of many issues are in order, including our foreign policies. For many years, the Soviet Union has directly or indirectly been the recipient of our foreign spendings and materials."

As for Stevenson being a

"favorite son" presidential nominee at the Democratic convention this summer, he said:

"I'm not a candidate and I don't expect to be one."

"But, I'm not shunning any office either."

"If such an occasion should materialize, I would expect all delegates pledged to me to remain dedicated until, if and when, they are released."

A TRUSTED NAME
IN FUNERAL SERVICE
FOR OVER 60 YEARS

We would like to introduce you to a new service of the Mercer Mortuary. If you have a question about funeral service, please write or call us. Whenever possible, questions will be answered in this column.

The average person is called upon to consider funeral arrangements about once in twelve to fifteen years of his adult life. Since such matters are not among the normal daily concerns, little is known about them.

Fear, lack of information and disaster combine to cause most people to reject the consideration of such matters.

Death is but one phase of life. It brings certain obligations and duties to those left behind, and it shall be our intention in this series of questions and answers, to prepare every thoughtful man and woman for these responsibilities.

We will publish in the Monday edition of the Press-Record questions in the public interest, and the answers, pertinent to them. We solicit your questions. We will attempt to answer them on the broadest terms possible, but we can only speak for Mercer's.
